

Reference:

This assignment is a continuation of the previous assignment.

Username: xiaobai

Password: 120939715

Login URL: <https://liu-q-3014-r2.herokuapp.com>

After user got this email of password the users can use the URL to login their account.

This homework totally revised two documents on the basis of the previous one, each of them are:

1. login.php

Setup the user login page, and check the DateTime.

If the user is already login in then the website will shows welcome page.

If the time in last_login is a new date, the jump to the page edit_user page and ask them to change their password(send them to the page change their password).

And use function fetch_object takes a row from the result set of attempt as the object, and link with data_add function what set in 48 hours to check of the user account status.

2. edit_user.php

This documents allow users login and edit their account and if users are first time login then they will jump into this page to change the password.

Allows user to login and edit their account and when new user logs in for the first time they are sent to edit their account, skipping the admin page.
